AEROSPACE ED CORNER

Baby Versions of Milky Way Spotted:
The tiny galaxies are about one-tenth to one-twentieth the size of the Milky Way and have 40 times fewer stars. Light from the ancient clusters was emitted about 2 billion years after the Big Bang, the theoretical beginning to the universe that occurred about 13.7 billion years ago. So the galaxies are seen as they existed in a very young universe. You can learn more at: <http://news.yahoo.com/s/space/>
