Ignorance of the Law

Don't Speed in the State of Nebraska! New law went into effect last week. Speeding now brings a $300 fine and four points. Could you afford to speed in a construction zone? Be Safe. Stay Safe. Obey the Law!

AEROSPACE ED CORNER

Electric-powered commercial jets may still be a figment of the imagination, but smaller electric aircraft are already making it to market. Taurus Electro gliders are set to be produced by year's end, which could make them the first two-seater, commercially produced electric aircraft available for purchase. Pipistrel of Slovenia sells this and other non-electric Taurus gliders, which have won prizes for efficiency. CEO Ivo Boscarol said customers who have ordered the company's other lightweight craft are closely eyeing the new, "greener" electric model, which will cost around $133,000, or 85,000 euros.
